Personality Description Based on Physiognomy

Christian Schörken demonstrates strong practical, organizational, and business-oriented abilities, combined with a socially responsible and humane outlook on life.

He is not easily influenced and possesses inner stability, a structured and methodical approach, precision, and determination.

Mr. Schörken grasps new information quickly and approaches his work with a high level of concentration.

He tackles problems calmly and thoroughly, maintaining an overview even under pressure.

He can pursue a matter and his objectives with quiet enthusiasm, while also placing importance on tangible and practical aspects.

He compares critically, evaluates carefully, and develops options in a logical sequence.

Christian Schörken communicates clearly, yet he is not someone who seeks attention loudly or forcefully; rather, he is discreet, considerate, modest, and prefers to observe how situations develop, seeking to understand the underlying dynamics of conflicts.

He values thinking in peace and quiet, appreciates consistency and balance, and is easygoing, economical, even-tempered, benevolent, tolerant, and helpful. Loud, sensational, or overly promotional expressions are not to his liking.
